SEE-SAW FIGHT ON FRENCH FRONT

LONDON, July 15.—Slaughtering of the fiercest kind marked another Sabbath on the Franco-German front. The Teutons emerged victors on the Road of the Ladies, the French in the Champagne. The respective gains on these widely separated fronts curiously counter-balance each other.

The French gain:

- On a width of 800 meters and a depth of 300 meters.
- They took 360 prisoners.
- The German gain:
- On a width of 1500 meters and a depth of 300 meters.
- They took 350 prisoners.

Paris asserts the Teuton assault on the Chemin des Dames was only partly successful, violent French counter-attacks having ejected the crown prince's troops from all but a few elements of trenches on a 500-meter front.

Berlin does not concede the reverse in the Champagne, declaring the French attacks were beaten off.

The French official communication emphasizes the terrible see-saw character of the fighting on the great highway below Laon. The Germans selected the French salient just west of Cerny, eight miles southwest of Laon, for a series of onslaughts launched with powerful effectives and aided by the use of liquid fire.

"Very violent fighting continued all night, with alternate advances and retirements," says the Paris statement.

The advance of the Poilus north of High mountain and on the slopes of the Teton is described by the French war office as a brilliant piece of dash and determination.

DETERIORATION OF GERMAN TORPEDO

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"The German torpedo supply is weakening; the torpedo has lost nearly ten knots in its speed since the onset of the war and hence the deterioration in accuracy of fire," declares a statement issued today by the Navy League of the United States, after a close study of the situation by its technical experts.

Germany, in this one essential, was not prepared for the war, the experts maintain. She had not a sufficient stock of torpedoes; she expended too much in her land operations; she made great sacrifices of her torpedo supply to gratify the folly of the

The Speed That Counts

¶ The typist who has a variety of work needs every possible convenience.

¶ She may have to write letters, telegrams, checks, labels, cut stencils, address envelopes, fill out index cards, make out invoices—all in the same day, on the same machine.

¶ The typewriter that enables her to do this in the shortest time must have certain mechanical conveniences for quickly changing from one class of work to another.

C. V. BRANTING POINTS OUT HOW THE WAR MAY BE STOPPED

THE CROSS

Editor Standard: The cross, not the sword, will conquer in this world war. We are looking in the wrong direction for the restoration of peace and to the wrong instrument. When we cease to look to men and begin to look to God, peace will come, and as soon as we take our eyes off the sword and rivet them on the cross, the spirit of peace will replace the spirit of war. One nation charges another nation with this world crime. The one nation is no more guilty than the other. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

Infidel France and skeptical Germany are paying the price for their infidelity and skepticism. The rest of the nations at the same ratio and there is no escape, "except ye repent," as the judgment day is here. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," applies to the nation as well as to the individual.

God is speaking to mankind today in the language of events, using continents for capitals and nations for small letters in His alphabet, men for punctuation marks, President Wilson the period, the Kaiser the question mark. The rest are useful but of lesser importance.

Constantine, 1700 years ago, saw the flaming cross in the Italian sky and read "In this sign conquer," accepted its spirit, obeyed its command, became a Christian and went forth a conqueror and reared a mighty milestone on the highway of progress.

The cross has not lost its power, but rather increased, and that at hundredfold. The emblem of love and good will to men does not only illuminate the Italian sky, but the sky of all the world, and all the race, and can be seen on the horizon of every individual.

What good thing can I do? I can listen to and heed the cry of Paul Revere. His spirit is not dead, but liveth and has improved with age. I cannot hear the clatter of his horse's hoofs, but I can hear the sweep of the fiery wings of the twentieth century messenger, rushing through space and with lightning swiftness circling the globe, whispering, "Men, to your knees!"

Prayer, and prayer only, will change men into His image—the image of Him who made all men brothers, and who is no respecter of persons. If, in the days of Constantine, less than fifteen per cent of the population of the Roman Empire were Christians, and yet such a small percentage were able to change the empire from pagan to Christian, what cannot the Christians do today? They can stop the war and stop it now.

How? Let every Christian, in every nation, neutral or belligerent, straighten out, throw his shoulders back and stand erect. If too much German, pray it off; if bent over with too much English, pray out the bent; or any other national affliction, pray it out. Christians should know no boundary line, no national line. Christianity is universal, a universal love of all men; no fences, no partitions, no walls, one faith, one brotherhood, one God.

Christian, man or woman, boy or girl, stand erect, show your colors—forward march—to a universal prayer meeting, for a universal peace.

The settlement of the war questions will be easy. Let him who borrowed, pay his debts; let him who has wrongs as much as lies in his power, and let the people say who or what government they want, monarchy or republic, colonial or independent. I believe the latter will be preferred and be more satisfactory to everybody concerned and to all the world. There are no rules like home rule. All peoples have reached their maturity and are no longer any more. Prussian militarism and British navalism are out of date and out of tune with the spirit of the twentieth century, relics of a past dispensation, aristocratic playthings—to the common people an offense and an expense.

Destiny, it seems, has so planned it that the one cannot go without the other. They are so closely related, look so much alike and have so much in common that they must hang together, and may we not help them in the going, and may the going be now? How can we help them in the going?

"The voice of the people is the voice of God." I am sure this is true. More than 90 per cent of all the people in all the lands are in perfect accord with God.

This one voice is: Cease to build and support armies and navies because they are instruments of destruction. Build and support churches and schoolhouses because they are the instruments of construction. You cannot have the army without the navy, nor can you have the church without the school—each in their class are inseparable.

Again, this one voice is speaking. "The German people do not want to fight the American people," the Kaiser says. "The American people do not want to fight the German people," the President says. Two witnesses when agreed help establish a fact. If the American and German people are friends, why not extend the friendship to the friends of either of these people. The sword cannot accomplish such a magnanimous achievement because it is a human instrument and invention, but the cross can, because it is of human and divine origin and stands for justice, truth and love.

The cross works from within and without. The blast of trumpets and beating of drums usually are the accompaniment of the music of the sword. The music of the cross is balm to the weary, hope to the distressed. "In the Cross of Christ I glory Towering o'er the wrecks of time, All the song of sacred story Gathers round its head sublime."

The story of the cross is the story of reconciliation, restoration and redemption to the individual, the nation and the world.

Who will be a Moses and step in the breach first? We have, seemingly, many patriots of war, but who will be the patriots of peace—a peace with honor, not a peace drenched with blood and drowned in tears, but a peace that will usher in the new dispensation of brotherly love and holy affection; a peace bringing with it a better economy, a better mode of life and a higher and greater honor than the world has ever known? A peace and a dispensation wherein poverty shall be unknown and sin and hate a stranger. This peace and this dispensation is now knocking at your door. Will you let it in? If so, pray, take up and bear your cross. (Signed) C. V. BRANTING.

WILL PLEAD FOR THE PARDON OF CONVICT
CHICAGO, July 15.—At a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor today John Fitzpatrick, president of the federation, was elected to go to Washington and confer with President Wilson in regard to the pardoning of Frank M. Ryan, one of the Indianapolis dynamiters sentenced to Port Leavenworth December 30, 1912, for heading a conspiracy against the federal government. The federation also passed a resolution calling for the immediate organization of the 40,000 employees of the stock yards.

TROUBLED JAPANESE ENDS HIS EXISTENCE
SALT LAKE, July 15.—Despondent over domestic difficulties, C. Nakamura, a Japanese restaurant proprietor, last night committed suicide by shooting himself through the abdomen in his room at 177 South West Temple street. The bullet emerged through his back. Nakamura was still breathing when friends rushed into his room. He was hurried to St. Mark's hospital, where he died within an hour.

Friends declare Nakamura had been brooding over advances made to his wife by Chinamen.

TRY THIS FOR FAT REDUCTION

Take Seven Deep Breaths Twice Daily and Follow Other Simple Rules.

If your weight is increasing, or if you are already too stout, you will be interested in learning that there is a method of fat reduction, said by many to be very wonderful and yet not requiring severe rules of starvation diet or strenuous exercise.

One of the essential features of this easier, safer, plan is deep breathing in the outdoor air. This helps supply the needed oxygen to the blood—for purifying the blood and improving circulation and assimilation. Another part of the treatment is the taking of a small dose of oil of korein after each meal and before retiring at night; also in following the simple directions that come with the box.

It is a pleasant, simple system of fat reduction proposed to improve the figure, add to vivacity and general efficiency and to prolong life. Oil of korein comes in capsules, very easy and pleasant to take. Get it at the drugist's and begin its use today. Or obtain a free testing packet (which will come to you in a plain envelope) by writing to Korein Company, 130A, East 28th St., Arcadia, New York, N. Y.

Even a few days' use is likely to show surprising results—a pleasing reduction in weight. If you wish to reduce ten to sixty pounds, if you want better health in place of unsightly and unhealthy fat, if you want to surprise friends with your improved appearance, looking younger and more attractive, try this treatment. It reduces weight often where all other remedies fail—Advertisement.

BRIDE WAS DRESSED IN SOLDIER SUIT

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE IS A SERGEANT IN THE AMERICAN ARMY WHO WAS MARRIED JUST BEFORE HE LEFT THE UNITED STATES AND VENTURED TO TAKE HIS BRIDE WITH HIM ON THE TRANSPORT WHICH CARRIED HIS REGIMENT OVERSEAS.

She went with him as a soldier, dressed in regulation khaki and with her hair cut short.

Today the young woman returned from France, her effort to pose as "Sammy" having failed. Her husband, it was said aboard the steamship, was a member of a regiment formerly stationed in Arizona.

The vessel also brought back the body of a soldier who died on the trip over.

TERRIBLY SICK WOMAN

Surgical Operation Thought Necessary, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her.

Madison, Wis.—"I was a terribly sick woman for over three years. I suffered with terrible pains in my back and was about to have an operation when a friend said to me, 'Before having that operation just try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let the operation wait and my husband bought me the Vegetable Compound and it has made me a well woman and we have a lovely baby girl. We cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, and I hope this letter will lead other suffering women to try it."—Mrs. BENJAMIN F. BLAKE, R.F.D. No. 5, Box 22, Madison, Wis.

There must be more than a hundred thousand women in this country who, like Mrs. Blake, have proven what wonders Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do for weak and ailing women. Try it and see for yourself.

All women are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

PARIS PRESS ON GERMAN CRISIS

PARIS, July 15.—The Paris press hails the retirement of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg from the German chancellorship, with varying degrees of satisfaction. Some of the comment is in a jubilant tone, while other editors treat the event soberly. However, all are agreed that it indicates a crisis in Germany of unprecedented importance.

As might be expected, the phrase, "Scrap the paper," frequently crops up in the comment and some of the journals trace the chancellor's downfall back to that early-in-the-war utterance of his. Petit Parisien is one of the newspapers that is not optimistic over the development, for it says: "Though chancellor changes, the German masters remain the same. It is they and not the retiring functionary who desired the war, to satisfy their appetite for universal domination."

The Journal says: "The chancellor was so accustomed to let things be that he seems to be surprised to find himself at the bottom of the abyss. His famous exclamation, 'a scrap of paper,' which many thought to be only a cynical utterance, now echoes like a cry of distress. It seems now as if Bethmann-Hollweg had foreseen the catastrophe."

In the view of the L'Homme Enchaîné, the chancellor's retirement marks the beginning of a tragic era for Germany. It pictures an immense black gulf yawning beneath the feet of the great militarized nation and terms the chancellor a man of straw.

The Action Française says that the chancellor's departure indicates the depth to which the Germans have descended in their spirit of violence and ambition.

Nearly all the newspapers comment on the singular coincidence that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's career as chancellor ended on an anniversary of the day it began—July 14.

GERMANS AIDED PEKING MONARCHY

TIEN-TSIN, July 15.—Republican headquarters here have issued a statement in which it is declared that General Chang Hsun, the monarchical commander, was assisted by interned Germans in defending his residence and that these Germans escorted him to the legation quarter where he took refuge.

Foreign advices state that the accused of fire from Chang Hsun's forces caused the suspicion that he had for given assistance.
